WHEN OTHERS SEE ME, THEY FIRST NOTICE MY:

YOUR CHOICE

Long shadow	Sleepy drag	Street-born instinct
Outsider static	Resting snarl	Corporate chill
Untamed momentum	Quiet gravity	Kindhearted calm
Androgynous poise	Thousand-yard stare	Twitchy tension
Low heat that's always simmering	Easy charm with sharp edges	Drifting gaze that never quite lands
Fluid grace that doesn't ask permission	Smirk that knows more than it says	Loud laughter that dares others to say sumpthin'
Perfect posture like a loaded weapon	A burning temper barely leashed	An aura that simply says: DON'T!

If it makes people lean back, lean in, or check the exits, you nailed it.

VIBE

DM tip: Ask each Dreamer for one vibe cue, then echo it back in the first NPC reaction.

4. IDEAL

> What do you stand for when the city bares its teeth?

Your Ideal is the belief you fall back on when things get loud, ugly, or expensive. This is your moral core—the line you won't cross, or the hill you're willing to die on. Choose one or more from below, or carve your own into the concrete.

IDEAL	WHAT YOU BELIEVE
Adaptability	Survival belongs to those willing to change when the world changes around them.
Anti-Establishment	Institutions exist to control people, and you're better off tearing them down than trusting them.
Anti-Technology	Technology has taken more from humanity than it has ever given back.
Compassion	Mercy matters most when cruelty would be easier.
Empathy	The forgotten, oppressed, and marginalized deserve someone willing to stand beside them.
Generosity	What you have means more when you use it to help someone who has less.
Heroism	When someone has to step into danger for everyone else, it might as well be you.
Honor	Your word and your code matter, especially when keeping them costs you.
Information Freedom	Knowledge belongs to everyone, and no one should control who gets to know the truth.
Order	Rules and structure keep civilization standing when chaos threatens to swallow it.
Power	Strength, competence, and the ability to act give you the right to lead.
Pragmatism	What works matters more than what sounds right.
Salvation	No one is beyond redemption, and something in this broken world is still worth saving.
Sensation	Life is meant to be experienced as intensely and completely as possible.
Street Justice	When the system won't protect people, somebody has to settle the score.
Technological Adaptation	Technology is how people survive, evolve, and keep pace with an increasingly impossible world.
Transmortalism	Flesh is only a starting point; technology, genetics, and altered consciousness can make us more than we were born to be.

Your Ideal points you forward when everything else is chaos.

It shapes your choices, justifies your risks, and tells the monoverse what you believe is worth fighting for.

You don't have to be right. You just have to believe in it strongly enough to act.